The Connectix Elite Phone Host Panel has been designed to allow for the integration of phone lines into a structured cabling network. It comprises of separate units that have a single input at the rear which is distributed to 4 outputs on the front.